

When family matters

Are you looking for Experienced Family Law Solicitors you can trust?

The vibrant, versatile and dedicated family law team at Sydney Mitchell offers the highest standard of legal advice and client care. Our department is made up of partners, associates, solicitors and assistants who all specialise exclusively in family law.

When family matters ...

...we take pride in protecting yours

Be treated like an individual

As a client of ours you will have an individual relationship with one advisor rather than being passed from one solicitor to another. By providing you with this dedicated one-to-one service, it allows for a cohesive and inclusive approach, minimising the trauma and anxiety associated with sensitive family matters such as separation and relationship breakdown.

We offer a family mediation service to assist with all aspects of a separation, allowing a couple to discuss the issues arising from their separation with an independent and impartial third party.

If you prefer to try to resolve your separation via the collaborative process we have two Collaborative lawyers.

If your case requires legal advice and services covering multiple areas of family law, rest assured your dedicated advisor can handle this for you. As each experienced lawyer in our family department has a breadth of knowledge, this allows them to fully manage multiple aspects of your case.
